READING

Read about the Hogarth family and answer the questions.

Bob and Sheila Hogarth live in Tibooburra in the west corner of New South Wales in Southern Australia, with their children Ruth and Will. It takes three hours to get to the next town, Wilcannia, by car. Bob says, 'Now it's easy. Fifty years ago it took three days. There were no cars and people travelled by horse.' Their children go to school in Wilcannia and sleep there during the week and come home for the weekend. It only takes them half an hour to get home because they travel by plane. 'A lot of our friends live in Wilcannia and they go to school by bus or cycle,' says Ruth, 'but we like living here because it's different.'

Boy: Excuse me. Can you tell me the way to the new skateboard park?

Woman: Yes, it's at the sports centre opposite the swimming pool.

Boy: OK. How do I get there?

Woman: It's easy. Go down this road and turn right at the school. Then go straight ahead, past the bank and the skateboard park's there on your left.

Boy: How long does it take?

Woman: It takes fifteen minutes on foot. I usually go by bus because it only takes five minutes. Are you walking?

Boy: No, I'm on my skateboard.

Woman: Oh, my son's got a skateboard. Have fun and be careful!

Boy: Thank you very much. Bye.

Woman: Bye.
